Find Your Calling...

This yearbook is full of memories. It contains memories of your homecoming football game, the spring formal, the classes, classmates and everything that encompasses a school year at Campbellsville University. Since 1906, students have been educated at Campbellsville University. Quite a few things have changed since then, but a lot has stayed the same. Campbellsville is your alma mater. This is the book that will freeze your time at Campbellsville.

Dr. Michael V. Carter is in his sixth year as president and encourages all students to "find our calling" while here at CU. This university has a history of preparing future leaders through a Christian-based higher education.

Many changes were made to the scenery on campus this semester. The addition of new parking, the Coca Cola Training Center, a Barnes and Noble Bookstore, a new Broadcast Services building and construction on the new E. Bruce Heilman Student Center have become memories of these last semesters. Also this year, a new Women's Village was added creating additional boarding for CU female students. Future students can expect construction on the new Ransdell Chapel. Funding is currently being sought for that project.

Enrollment reached more than 2,000 this year for the first time. New programs have been added, such as criminal justice, sports ministry, environmental science and social science to attract new faces to our campus. Many of the faces in this yearbook will be familiar. Campbellsville University strives to become a special part of each student's life and hopes to make a lasting impression. Students come from all over the world to study at in a Christian environment at CU. Nothing can replace bonding with someone from South Africa, having your favorite teacher in class, knowing that each teacher knows your name and sharing four years with your friends.

We've seen that disappointing loss to Georgetown, that first wrestling win, a presidential election, a coach win number 600, homecoming reunions and barbecues. We've also witnessed to people overseas, played music in Brazil, heard many convocation speakers and learned what it's like to live away from home.

Campbellsville University is a place to "find your calling." The pages that follow will show you how CU students "find their calling" and answer it.

Student Activities

When not in class, CU students find themselves involved in many activities on campus. From being hypnotized to crowning a Valentine Queen, there's something for everyone at CU. These events all offer opportunity for student involvement and are geared toward school spirit.

Student activities aim to enhance the college experience by providing opportunities to have some fun, make some new friends, develop our leadership skills, and interact in settings outside the classroom.

We started off in the year with lots of activities and excitement. In August, we gathered our freshman and held activities for them to feel part of the Tiger family. We gathered all year in support for our Tiger athletic teams and cheered them through victory and defeat.

The Student Activities Center offers CU students, faculty and staff a full basketball court and a game room to take time to enjoy ourselves. The game room provides three pool tables, two ping-pong tables, two air hockey tables and one foosball table. It is also home to the Office of Student Activities and the Out of the Way Café. For those graduating students, CU offers a regional job fair to provide sources for possible contacts and graduate school information.

Student Activities at CU create a fun atmosphere for down time and offer a Christian-based opportunity for student interaction. During these activities, we have danced at our spring formal, cheered at our homecoming game, perfected our resumes for possible employers, welcomed new CU Tigers and spent time with our families – our own and our Tiger family.

Welcome Week

Smiles and laughter welcome students and faculty to an exciting new school year

This year's Welcome Week proved to be one of the best yet, according to Student Government Association President Travis Thomas.

The week began on August 22 with Sunday Night Explosion and continued on Monday, August 23 with a block party. Following those events were a Kentucky Heartland Outreach work day, a Baptist Student Union Picnic, hypnotist Frederick Winters, Dorm Wars, the BSU retreat, coed volleyball tournament and three performances of the Complete Works of William Shakespeare (Abridged.)

"This year's Welcome Week proved to be the best yet. With events like The Complete Works of William Shakespeare (abridged) and the hypnotist; one could really feel the energy of a new year," Thomas, 22, a senior from Elizabethtown, said. Perhaps the highlight of the week, the Amazing Frederick Winters, had students singing, dancing, and doing things there were sure to never do in public.

Welcome Week gave students lots of opportunities to meet new people and to become involved in what CU has to offer.

Freshman Week

Incoming freshmen bond through various activities and community service projects

Each year, Student Services seeks to make incoming students feel more comfortable with exciting activities during Freshman Week. During events such as the CU Rodeo, Freshman Cookout, KHO Work day and Acoustic Cafe, freshman students become more familiar with campus, faculty members and other students.

At the CU Rodeo held on the Montgomery Library lawn, students tried their skill on a mechanical bull or on the Giant Hat race. Many students also ventured off to the President's Lawn for a picnic style cookout with other freshmen students.

One of the most important events for Freshman, however, was that of the KHO Work Day and emphasis on community service activities. Whether it was by putting new roofing on a house, offering a free car wash, or visiting the elderly in a nursing home, freshmen students learned the importance of helping others during various community service projects. Not only did this offer them an opportunity to make friendships with other students, but encouraged them to servant attitude throughout the semester.

Family Weekend

Students share a weekend of campus activities with their families

September 17 and 18 was a weekend of barbecue, football games, laughs, cheers and family. This year's Family Weekend contained lots of activities for students to bring their family to our campus and to all experience a weekend at CU.

The office of Student Activities and the Baptist Student Union sponsored the weekend's events. A barbecue kicked off the festivities on Friday, September 17. Students and their families ate together and bonded through fellowship.

That night, CU students and their family members watched comedy skits and routines during the annual Dave and Ed Show featuring Dave Walters, vice-president for admissions and student services and Ed Pavy, director of campus ministries.

"It was comical," Daniel Curry, 18, a freshman from Louisville, said. "I really enjoyed seeing the acts. It was a good way to start the weekend."

The next day featured the Tiger football game against Bethel College. "My mom, Linda Curry, came to see me play in the band," Curry said. "She enjoyed herself." The Tigers were victorious, beating Bethel 31 to 17.

Homecoming

Tigers soar Up, Up & Away through a victorious Homecoming weekend full of excitement

Homecoming is a time of togetherness, celebration, football and food. CU's homecoming has all of that and more. On October 15 and 16, current CU students, faculty, staff, alumni and community members all joined to celebrate and remember their time here in Campbellsville.

The event's theme was "Up, Up and Away." This years' homecoming celebration included a parade, car show, booths, floats, reunions, a football game and plenty of food. The weekend also featured the debut of CU's first wrestling team. Students ate pancakes with the president at the annual pancake breakfast and even smashed a car to support the Student Government Assocation.

"I enjoyed all the booths and seeing my friends," Anita Dobbins, 23, a senior from Campbellsville, said. "Homecoming is always a time to eat some good food, watch the football game and have a good time."

Spectators saw the Campbellsville University Tiger Marching Band perform and the crowning of Kaysee Graham as homecoming queen. Graham represented the Social Workers In Touch Can Help (S.W.I.T.C.H.) club. Those who got the chance also saw Ed Pavy and Dave Walters get a pie in the face to support Campus Ministries. Children got their faces painted, and cheerleaders cheered for touchdowns as our Tigers fought for a win against Lambuth, defeating the Eagles 27 to 17.

Anna Gordon, a junior from Gravel Switch, was crowned Campbellsville University's new Valentine Queen on February 11 in Gheens Recital Hall. She later went on to compete in the Mountain Laurel Festival in Pineville, Ky., in late May. Gordon was selected from 10 contestants.

The second runner-up award went to Lindey Nelson, and the first runner-up award went to Brittany Wells. The Miss Congeniality award went to Regina White. The Best Escort award went to Spenser Thompson, escort of Stephanie Thompson.

Participants for the event included Karla Kingery, Emily Pavy, Kari McGrath, Dana Etherington, Anna Gordon, Regina White, Lindey Nelson, Emily Emerson, Brittany Wells and Stephanie Thompson.

The theme for the night was "American Woman." Each contestant was judged on poise, appearance, talent and an interview conducted earlier in the week.

Regional Job Fair

Connecting Students With Quality Jobs and Careers

Each year, Campbellsville University seeks to provide students with a connection to the outside work force that they are being prepared for within the classroom. The Regional Job Fair is held annually within the Student Activities Center and hosts over 20 different employers from various surrounding counties seeking to hire well-educated individuals.

The Job Fair is a very valuable experience for students in any major or career area. By meeting with various employers, they are able to ask questions and become aquainted with different opportunities available for them after graduation. Many times students make connections that later help them become involved with internships, as well as both full and part-time jobs. Students also received door prizes along with the pamplets and free gifts given by the visiting employers.

The annual event is cosponsored by both Career Services and Counseling and the Phi Beta Lambda chapter.

Spring Formal

Dancing the night away at Elizabethtown's Historic State Theater

This year's spring formal was held at the Elizabethtown Historic State Theater Saturday on April 9 at 8 p.m. The theme was "A Night at the Theater."

"We're really excited about Spring Formal this year. We're going to have a red carpet leading up to the theater entrance to create a movie star atmosphere," said Sophomore Class President Laura Cromer.

The theater was decorated with movie posters and life-size cardboard cutouts of movie stars. This year's formal was much different than past years. One room was packed with a D.J. and dancing and another room with karaoke, snacks and card games, making sure that there was something for everyone to enjoy.

Jessica Bozarth stated that "They've revived the theater. The history behind the theater creates the elegant atmosphere and the location is classy and sophisticated. It's the perfect place for spring formal."

Student Life

There are so many things that happen daily across campus that impact student's lives in a positive way. When not flipping through textbook pages or meeting to study in Montgomery Library, students are seeking to be involved both on and off campus. Many have found amazing opportunities to minister through local community service activities while others travel to different countries to reach out and spread the love of God. Campbellsville University's commitment to stewardship has a profound impact on the lives across campus as many students become involved in touching the hearts of others.

Students also become involved in fun activities that take place throughout the academic year. Andrew Ward and the Activities Board are constantly coming up with ideas for everyone on campus to enjoy. The intramural leagues take place year-round and include activities for everyone to participate in. All the leagues are very competitive, yet fun and exciting for all students to watch and take part in.

Another important part of student life on campus are the convocation services held each week. Even though students are required to have a certain amount of convocation credits to graduate, many students enjoy the services as they offer not only imformative information, but entertainment and fellowship as well. Each week the J.K. Powell Athletic Center or Campbellsville Baptist Church sanctuary is filled with CU students worshipping God. Each service inspires students to live a life worthy of the calling they receive here at CU and reminds everyone that they are not only here to learn but to serve as well.

Community Service

...Students Reach Out to Make a Difference

One of the qualities Campbellsville University seeks to instill in its students is the aspect of stewardship and community service. Each year, the freshman class is required to participate in community service activities through their Freshman Year Experience class. Many students volunteer their time on campus, painting or picking up trash. Others look deeper into the community for areas to serve.

Through Kentucky Heartland Outreach and Habitat for Humanity, students help build houses and minister to families throughout the local community. Other students visit the elderly at various nursing homes. Local childcare facilities and schools open their doors for college students to read with young children. There are always opportunities to volunteer and reach out to the community. Campbellsville University continuouly seeks to emphasize the importance of serving others with a loving heart and Christian attitude.

Intramurals & Activities

...Students Connect and Get Involved on Campus

Every student knows that there is more to college than going to class and writing papers. Most of the memories made during college stretch far beyond the hundreds of papers you spend hours writing. The Office of Student Activities does its best to make sure every student is involved and has the best experience possible at CU. Whether it is through Welcome Week festivities or Movie Nights at Green River Cinema 6, there are activities offered for everyone to enjoy. Each year, students flock to events such as the Dave and Ed Show, Amazing Hypnotist and Spring Formal.

For those who enjoy competition, intramural leagues are held for a wide variety of sports including football, basketball, soccer, softball, bowling and even dodgeball. The Student Activities Center is also open for students to play ping pong or a game of billards. However, the Office of Student Activities ensures that you do not have to be athletic to enjoy yourself on campus. There is always something going on to unite students across campus through fun, ministry and fellowship.

Mission Trips

...Students Spread Christ's Love Across the World

The Campus Ministries Office and Baptist Student Union are constantly seeking to provide students with the unique opportunity to minister not only in Campbellsville but also in various areas of the world. Each semester students are able to travel to different countries and share the word of God with local residents. Trips are usually taken during breaks and intercessions from school in the winter and spring. The experience bring students not only closer together as friends, but also closer in their own personal relationship with God.

This year students traveled to places both in the United States as well as in other countries. Mission teams were sent to places such as Philadelphia, Honduras, and Brazil to do service work and street ministry to those who desperatley need to experience the love of God. Not only are students able to reach out to others, but also gain humility and understanding through serving God in mission work. The trips are an important part of ministry on campus and help students gain experience, knowledge, and cultural understanding not only of our local community, but entire world as well.

Convocation

...Students Come Together as a Community to Worship

Convocation is a unique and distintive part of Campbellsville University as it seeks to bring students and faculty together for a time of worship, reflection and fellowship. Convocation services consist of anything from comedy presentations, concerts, award recognitions to guest speakers and evangelists of the gospel. As a Christian-based institution, we are not ashamed of our beliefs instead we strive to adhere to God's calling and purpose on campus.

As students, faculty and staff gather together, whether it is in Campbellsville Baptist Church or J.K. Powell Gymnasium, they are reminded of God's presence and importance in our lives and on our campus. Convocation allows us to stay updated on upcoming activities and fellowship together as one body in the name of Christ. This year, speakers such as Mark Cahill, the Bean and Bailey comedy duo as well as our own campus jazz band and choral group took stage and presented their own callings to the audience. Other convocations included special cultural awareness and diversity programs to educate and entertain students and staff.

CAMPBELLSVILLE UNIVERSITY

People

Campbellsville University is an institution geared toward enhancing the lives of those who make its success possible--the faculty, staff, and students. This is a place filled with diversity and unique individuals, each with their own special talents and abilities. CU seeks to bring each one of these people together to learn how to better serve God and one another.

Whether you are eating in the cafe or just walking across campus, you are constantly surrounded by friendly familiar faces. Many students can call the faculty and staff here by name or have strong trusting relationships with coaches and their families. Even as many students move far away from their hometowns and relatives, CU is a place that makes each person feel right at home. Our ESL students travel thousands of miles to connect with local families and other students, sharing their culture while at the same time experiences ours.

This is a place where people connect with one another not only within in the classroom, but outside of it as well. Undoubtedly, the feeling of community stretches across this campus and touches the lives of all who encounter it. This is what makes Campbellsville University unique. Whether it is a professor, staff member or student, each person on campus is an important part of what CU stands for. Here no one is just a number, but a unique individual that makes this university what it is.

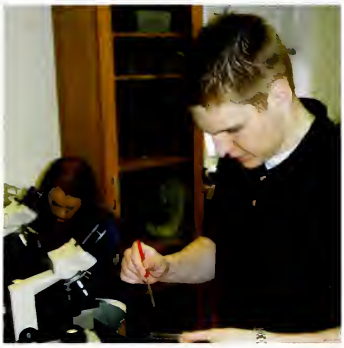
Clubs & Organizations



Along with the heavy class loads and special events across campus, student organizations play an important part of each person's college experience. Friendships are developed, trips are taken and memories are made through each group of students that gather together on campus. There are numerous organizations that focus on different types of specific areas. Most are oriented around particular majors, talents or interests but all help to influence and uplift students for their future careers and goals.

Students become involved in clubs for a variety of reasons. Some students enjoy spending time with peers that are interested in similar subjects and activities. Other become involved because of the experience, knowledge and connections they will make from participating in certain organizations. Whatever the reason, joining any of the clubs on campus is a very valuable and beneficial part of furthering your education and opening up new opportunities for your future.

Whether the organization a student is involved in is a national organization or local group held on campus, each one offers unique experiences for students to enjoy while at CU. Many clubs take trips to visit places that relate specifically to their interests while others travel across the country to compete and participate in conventions. Here at Campbellsville University there is something for everyone to become involved in and gain experience from.

Arts

Campbellsville University is very proud of their renowned arts program. Our music department is one of the most well-noted in the state and continues to grow and develop a rich tradition that is second to none. The arts area is filled with talented musicians, composers, actors, singers and artists that excel not only on stage but in the classroom as well. Here at CU, students are not only able to showcase their talents and abilities but gain knowledge and experience to hone their skills and become even better performers.

There are a wide variety of programs that students can become involved in on campus that are art-related. Musical groups such as orchestra, wind ensemble, jazz ensemble and concert band are available for talented individuals to take part in. Choral groups such as chorale, chamber choir and concert chorus are offered for students with vocal skills. There are also many opportunities for students to participate in drama activities and various productions that take part throughout the semester. The Marching Band is always active during the fall, perfecting a performance that continually impresses and entertains the crowd. At Campbellsville University, there is truly something for everyone to become involved in.

Whether it be performing a concert, displaying a painting or playing the lead role in a play, our students are constantly active across campus sharing their talent with the community as well as other students. CU not only welcomes each student's individual talent but gives them opportunities to share it with others and most importantly, use them to glorify God.

Orchestra

The Campbellsville University Orchestra, under the direction of Dr. J. Robert Gaddis, has experienced significant growth in recent years. This growth in the string program has enabled the university to expand the ensemble possibilities to include several small groups and a larger string chamber ensemble. It also provides the capability of combined performances of major works, such as the German Requiem by Johannes Brahms, presented by the Concert Chorus and the University Orchestra in April.

Athletics

Campbellsville University has long been a place that prides itself not only academically and spiritually but athletically as well. CU offers many different sports for a variety of athletes to participate in. These athletic programs are led by quality Christian coaches that teach the importance of character both on and off the field. They are determined to help their players be successful both in their specific sport and in the classroom. This year, three coaches were named MSC coach-of-the-year: Shannon Wathen, Beauford Sanders, and Lee Sullivan.

This year the CU athletic program experienced great success with both the baseball and softball teams winning the MSC Regular Season Conference Championship. Our women's soccer team had a seven-game winning streak to which led them to completing their most successful season in school history. The 2004-05 year also marked the first season of CU's inaugural wrestling team led by Coach Franky James. The addition of the new indoor practice facility helped our athletic programs tremendously as it offered a place for teams to practice during bad weather.

Our athletic programs represent everything that Campbellsville University stands for: fellowship, leadership and scholarship. Our athletes work together to glorify God through sports and encourage one another to become the best they can be.

MEN'S BASKETBALL

Tigers Gain Experience Through A Challenging Season and Look Ahead To Next Year

This year the Men's Basketball team faced a very challenging season. The team was very young with ten newcoming players entering at the beginning of the season. With only five returning players, Head Coach Keith Adkins had a huge challenge in front of him. The season proved to be one of learning and skill development to prepare for seasons to come.

Keith Adkins

Head Men's Basketball Coach

Returning athletes, Korey Mitchell, Chad Robinson and Jeremy Taylor played important leadership roles for the team, averaging over twenty points per game. Mark Alderson's return to the court also proved to be a great advantage for the Tigers. His experience and maturity both on and off the court helped the team tremendously.

The team looks forward to a new season with a solid core of returning athletes eligible to compete. "We just want to keep getting better. We want to get better each game and improve on last year's record. We want to win 20 games and finish in the top three in the Mid-South Conference. I think if you do that, you're a lock for the NAIA National Tournament and that's what we want to do," stated Coach Adkins.

Despite the challenging season, the players continued to be a success in the classroom. Jeremy Taylor, a junior from Campbellsville, Kentucky, was recognized as a NAIA Division I Basketball All-American Scholar-Athlete. This honor is given to juniors and seniors with a cumulative GPA of 3.5.

Campbellsville also placed several players on the All-Conference Men's and Women's teams. Luke Beling and Clayton Langheim were named to the All-Conference Singles Team and All-Conference Doubles Team. Mark Tiu and Stephen Cross were both named All-Conference Honorable Mention Singles. CHEERLEADING

Co-Ed Squad Continues to Grow By Helping Encourage and Cheer On Other Athletes To Victory

The Campbellsville University co-ed cheerleading squad strives to support CU athletes and compete while representing Christian principles and ideals both on and off campus. In addition, the program values commitment, discipline and fun.

Chastity Wright

Head Cheerleading Coach

This year's cheerleading squad played an important role in the Tiger Athletic program's great success this year by helping lead the crowd in cheers and motivate the players during games. The squad cheered during home football games as well as the men's and women's basketball games. Their enthusiasm helped to get the fans involved and excited during competition.

This year two Tiger Cheerleaders acquired All-Conference awards at the 2005 Mid-South Conference Cheerleading Championships. Stephanie Russell, a junior from Springfield, Kentucky and Nikki Smith, a senior from LaGrange, Kentucky were named All-Conference Cheerleaders. Both were also awarded Academic All-Conference awards as well.

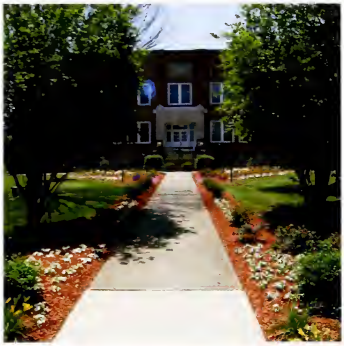
Along the Trail



If any word could be used to describe the campus during this academic year none would fit better than "change." Numerous buildings have been updated and remodeled both inside and out, giving the campus a fresh new look. The faces of Stapp and Druien Hall have been reconstructed through the help of donations and university funding. A new building was opening in the Women's Residence Village in the fall of 2004 and construction was begun on its Phase II section the following spring. The renovation of Montgomery Library was also finished this year and helped students tremendously with research efforts. New tennis courts are being constructed, additional parking lots being made and classrooms, offices and rooms being repainted and remodeled. Indeed, change is occuring all across campus.

Some of the more noticeable improvements being made at Campbellsville University is the construction of the new E. Bruce Heilman Student Complex which will house a new dining all, post office, bookstore, restaurant-style grill and Starbucks coffee kiosk. The building is set to open for students in the fall of 2005. The groundbreaking of the new School of Nursing building also took place this year and will be an influencial addition to our academic programs.

As our campus changes and improves, new opportunities arise for students to fellowship and enjoy their college experience. New additions and updates that are being made each day are what helps to make CU one of the South's leading universities.

Campbellsville University's First Wrestling Team

The 2004-05 academic year made great strides in its athletic program with the addition of CU's first-ever wrestling team. The team consisted of 28 talented young men who helped lead the team through a successful season.

Groundbreaking Begins On School of Nursing

After three years of planning and fundraising, Campbellsville University broke ground on June 10, 2005 for a new School of Nursing. The 7,160-square-foot facility, which should be completed in the fall of 2005, will house offices, a lab, and classrooms for the first class anticipated to begin in January 2006.

Druin Hall Facelift

During the spring semester, Druin Hall was given an updated facade. The construction consisted of placing an entrance door in the front of the building as well as new columns and steps.

E. Bruce Heilman Student Center Complex

Construction was begun on The E. Bruce Heilman Student Complex during the 2004-2005 school year. The building will feature the new Winters Dining Hall and Davenport Student Commons. The Winters Dining Hall will feature a grill and pizza station as well as other self-serving areas. The Davenport Student Commons will house the post office, student lounge and Barnes and Noble bookstore. The Complex is set to open for students and faculty in the fall of 2005.

Tennis Court Addition

MSC Coach of the Year Leigh Sullivan and his men's and women's tennis teams anxiously await the addition of the new tennis courts on campus. The tennis courts will not only be a place for the teams to practice and compete, but will be open to all students to enjoy as well. The courts are being built behind the indoor practice facility and are a much-needed addition to our athletic program.

Montgomery Library Renovation

The facelift and renovation of the Montgomery Library was completed this year and greatly helped to improve student life on campus. The building was modified both on the inside and out, giving a new fresh look to campus. Many students utilized the addition of research materials and other resources that were also recently added.

Closing

It has been said quite often that "all good things must come to an end." Just as each student looks back on their time spent at Campbellsville University and the memories they have made here, they must also realize that their life must continue beyond the boundaries of this campus. Campbellsville University is a place that prepares students for life beyond college and the road each one must travel after graduation. Therefore, each one of us will reach that day where we close a chapter in our lives and move on to a new exciting journey we have been so perfectly prepared for here at CU.

The day of commencement is one that is filled with excitement, anxiety, pride and sorrow. For years, students work towards the opportunity to walk across the stage and receive the degree they have worked so hard to achieve. However, with the reception of a degree comes the acceptance that college as you know, comes to an end. This closure is a bittersweet reminder of what it means to grow, mature and be successful in life.

For many students, graduation seems so far away. They still have many more semesters to spend in the classrooms and on campus with friends. However, once the last test is completed and suitcases are packed, the feeling of closure suddenly sinks in. For many it is a feeling of freedom and relief and for others another step closer to fulfilling goals and ambitions. No matter where you are at in life, time does not stand still and every beginning will always have an end. The importance is not in how you start or how you finish but how you spend the time in between.

Mr. and Miss Campbellsville 2005

Travis Thomas and Miranda Ray

Message from the President

As we look back on this past 2004-05 academic year, we can see that it has been a year of growth and improvement. The university had a record enrollment of 2,052 students in fall 2004 followed by a record spring 2005 enrollment of 1,962 students.

Campbellsville University has made great strides in the academic program areas. We received reaffirmation of accreditation from the Commission on Colleges of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools (SACS) to award the associate, bachelor's and master's degrees. The Writing-Engagement-Learning (WEL) Program has been initiated, which will enhance the crucial link between writing, academic engagement and learning across the curriculum. We were also awarded additional federal funding for our associate degree in nursing, and we have hired a dean for this program.

On April 13, 2005 Campbellsville University Lambda Chapter of Alpha Chi was installed with 19 students being inducted into this highly prestigious honor society. Alpha Chi invited CU to join their esteemed society earlier this year, fulfilling a major goal of the academic program. This chapter will allow CU students a chance to gain national academic recognition.

Campbellsville University has been awarded her first challenge grant from the Kresge Foundation for $1 million that will be used for the E. Bruce Heilman Student Center Complex. Our development staff has worked hard and has successfully raised over $6.7 million to meet the requirements to receive this grant.

The Residence Village (Phase II) was completed and open to women for the fall of 2004. Improvements were also made to the front of both Stapp Hall and Druien Hall. The Montgomery Library renovations were completed.

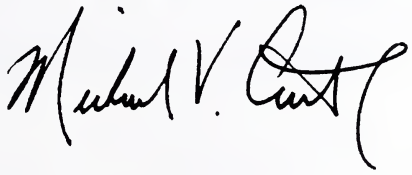
When you return in the fall, you will notice many facility updates across campus. The E. Bruce Heilman Student Center Complex will be complete and will include the Davenport Student Commons which will house the new Barnes & Noble Bookstore, post office, student lounge, grill and offices, along with the Winters Dining Hall, which will have a seating capacity of 600, with the ability to partition off the area for smaller functions. A new Residence Village addition (Phase III) will be completed and work will have begun on the Ransdell Chapel. A new classroom and office complex will be constructed behind the Heilman Student Center for the School of Nursing. The Carver School of Social Work (now located on Meader Street) will have a classroom addition in the rear of the building. Our tennis complex will be completed, so we can hold matches on campus and students can enjoy recreational tennis play.

As you can see, Campbellsville University has grown in both programs and facilities, but more importantly the spirit of Christ is alive and growing around campus. Through the vast work of our mission teams (both at home and abroad), spirit-filled campus revivals and ministry opportunities to the community, our students are truly learning and practicing steward leadership.

We will continue to strive to further Campbellsville University in Christian higher education and service; we must thank our dedicated faculty and staff. Without their hard work and example we would not be where we are today.

We pray that our 340 Campbellsville University graduates will be a force of betterment for our communities as they continue to lead others in Christian example. These students are true testaments that as you study and learn at CU you can "find your calling" for life.

Most Cordially,



Michael V. Carter
President
Campbellsville University

Colophon

The 2005 Maple Trail was published by Jostens Publishing Company in Clarksville, Tennessee. There were 675 copies of Volume 77 printed. The 9x12 book contains 192 pages. This is the first year the yearbook has been printed in full-color throughout the length of the entire publication.

The collection of photographs featured inside this book were taken by the Maple Trail Staff, Office of University Communications, Sports Information Office, Supertone Studio and Central Kentucky News-Journal. I would like to say an extra special thank you to Bryan Blair and Joan McKinney for all their cooperation. I wish time allowed special attention to each of your photographs---without them, the book would not be complete.

I would also like to thank Dr. Michael V. Carter, Dr. Frank Cheatham and Mr. Otto Tennant for their unfailing support and encouragement. The staff also appreciates Mr. John Burch and his willingness to furnish and supply our office space and equipment.

The Maple Trail Staff could not go without giving special thanks to our yearbook representative Billy Hargis and the entire staff at Jostens Publishing. Your cooperation and helpfulness have gone far beyond our expectations.

To our yearbook advisor Patty McDowell, words cannot express how thankful I am to you for the long hours you have put in alongside me. Without your help, we could never have made it this far. To my friends and family, you are the inspiration and encouragement for everything I do. Thanks for your constant encouragement and support during this year. I love you all. Above all else, I thank my Lord and Savior for giving me strength and making all things possible.

I hope this yearbook holds memories you will always carry with you. May God bless you always!
